

Special Notices.

As I will shortly remove from the well known Cigar Store, next to Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, I take this opportunity to offer my entire stock of cigars, tobacco, pipes and smokers' articles, contained at the stand, at cost price. Any one buying a box of cigars will get them at manufacturer's price, as the stock must be closed out in a very short time. I do not wish to remove any of it to the store, identical, at 38, Main street, as the stock of cigars, tobacco, pipes and smokers' goods is already large enough to supply all the wants of the public. The business, after the removal, will be carried on at 38, Main street, under the Backman House, where I hope that all those who have so far favored me with their custom, will put up with the inconvenience of walking a block further, as the quality of the goods will amply reward them for the trouble.

Borrowing Money.

Borrowing money upon the installment plan is attended with these advantages: The loan can be repaid in small monthly amounts which include the interest and part of the principal, so that by the expiration of the term it can be all paid without any great inconvenience to the borrower; the rate of interest is generally lower; the expenses of obtaining the money are not so great as in ordinary loans, and if it is borrowed upon good paying property then it is a happy thing that the borrower will meet the monthly installments and in time pay off the debt.

Los Angeles Herald.

THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1875.

THE Santa Monica organ denies that one of its editors went to San Francisco to interview Senator Jones, and says he went up to see the editor of the HERALD. This may have been the object, but the result shows that he failed in his purpose and collided with the Senator. Let us hope that no loss was sustained.

THE Express, which is laboring in the interest of the Santa Monica land scheme says: "We are assured by one who knows that the title to the land in Santa Monica, the sale of which the HERALD is trying to injure, is not in dispute at all." We regret to see our contemporary giving utterance to expressions which must brand it as very ignorant, or what is worse, something venal. The title to the Santa Monica ranch is clouded; it is in dispute; it is in law; it is unsettled, and until this litigation ceases, a clear title cannot be made to a single foot of the Santa Monica ranch.

The City Curse.

THERE are in this city twenty or more boys ranging from fifteen to twenty years of age, whose prolonged residence in San Quinten would reflect more credit on their parents, and brothers and sisters, than the lives they are now leading. For some months past the spread and growth of the hoodlum element in Los Angeles has been so rapid as to excite feelings of alarm and distrust on the part of the respectable portion of the community.

For a town of eighteen or twenty thousand inhabitants, our city can produce a greater number of and more desperate hoodlums than any other place in the State. Something should be done to check the development of youthful ruffianism here, and we need scarcely remind the officers and judges that desperate cases require desperate remedies. Light fines are rather an encouragement to outlawry than otherwise. We have had an abundance—a surfeit—of this sort of thing, and a resort to severe measures is a necessity. A youthful blackguard is pouring forth volumes of profanity and obscenity on a street, lined with residences, and when a gentleman remonstrates with him, he is answered with a dagger thrust, which places his life in jeopardy. The would-be assassin of Mr. HAWLEY offers no justification for his blackguard conduct or his attempted murder, except that he was drunk. There are twenty boys in this city who do get drunk, and who would no doubt attempt to murder the man who asked them to cease the use of profane language in the presence of women and children. Once more we assert that the spirit of hoodlumism must be quelled in this city. If the officers and the law are not equal to the task, more powerful means must be devised.

William Irwin.

It is or will be argued against WILLIAM IRWIN, the Democratic nominee for Governor, that in the State Senate he was the ally of TOM FOWLER in his crusade against the no-fence law, and that as Senator from Siskiyou county he opposed all propositions for irrigating the agricultural sections. These two charges would affect Mr. IRWIN's popularity were they based upon his acts as a State officer, but when we remember that they are objections to the record of a State Senator representing a mining and stock raising county, they fall to the ground without the support of a single argument.

In his fence and irrigation views, Mr. IRWIN expressed the will and wishes of his Siskiyou county constituency as he was in honor bound to do. But it does not follow that as Governor of the State, with the interests of the whole people at heart that he will express or advocate the measures, which, while the servant of but a single county, he felt it his duty to support.

No man in the State more fully understands the importance of a no-fence law as applying to certain localities than Mr. IRWIN, and we have no doubt but that, as Governor, he will earnestly favor the enactment of such laws, wherever demanded by the people. He is thoroughly informed as to our irrigation necessities and will not withhold his signature from any bill containing a practical plan for utilizing the water of our rivers and lakes.

The opponents of the Democratic ticket will not manufacture a vast amount of capital from Mr. IRWIN's record on these questions. During the campaign he will visit the sections in which these charges are urged against him, and when the people see and talk with him, they will not question his honesty of purpose nor his desire to do all in his power to advance the interests of every section.

Those Clouded Titles.

The announcement that the title to the San Vicente Ranch is a matter yet to be determined by the Courts, is not new to many residents of this valley. The facts are as follows: It was the custom in olden time, when a grant was conferred to appoint some one as a judge, whose duty it was to define the metes and bounds and give what was termed juridical possession of the grant. In the case of the San Vicente grant, one of Los Angeles' most respected citizens, Sefior ANTONIO CORONEL, was the judge selected; and avers that he gave juridical possession of but one and one-half leagues, while the present owners of the grant are claiming four leagues—two and one-half leagues more than was obtained in the original grant. The testimony of Sefior CORONEL is strong; it begins at the beginning and, unless controverted, takes from the holders of the grant two and a half leagues of land and gives so much of it as does not fall to the Southern Pacific Company to the people. The grant is within the twenty mile line, within which the alternate sections of government land become the property of the company. The other sections outside of the league and a half are government land and are now open to preemption. The boundaries of the San Vicente Grant, consisting of one and one-half leagues, are not clearly defined. The Santa Monica Ranch ownership is in dispute and in law. MARQUIS & REYS are contesting the claim to the property by those now in possession in the courts, and to whom the "prize" will ultimately fall is one of those problems which only time and wise judges will solve. Thus it will be seen that not a foot of the land on which the city that is to be built, is held under a clear title. This land may be sold if people can be induced to purchase it, but in the face of the above facts we ask, can the purchaser hope for such a title to his property as will enable him to have and hold against all comers? No man is justified in building on and improving land which will certainly be in litigation for years and may finally pass from his possession.

Azus.

We find the following correspondence published in the Pacific Rural Press:

MESSRS. EDITORS: As I saw in a late number of the Press a glowing account of the settlement of Duarte, at the eastern end of the San Gabriel orange and fruit belt, and as I have never seen any account of the little settlement, some seven miles further east, in a cosy nook between, as you may say, the Coast Range and the grand old Sierra Nevada, where the green old oaks along the foothills are a relief to the eye, and where the lime, orange and citron blooms lend fragrance to the gentle sea breeze. Whether in the San Gabriel fruit belt or not, here we are, a thriving settlement of about ninety families, in a prosperous condition, with fair prospects and good crops. We have one good school and another will open in a short time; also two Granges and two stores. For churches, the school houses answer; but, alas! we have no preacher of our own, so we borrow one from over the river, and have preached every Sunday. As for hotels, the people understand that it would be a financial suicide to start one. And every stranger capitalist who comes here with an eye to such business goes away satisfied that the general hospitality of the farmers would starve a hotel keeper to death. We have a Postoffice here, also, semi-weekly mail, and through it we get your valuable and welcome paper.

Nebraska Crops.

OMAHA, Neb., July 6th.—The Herald's special from all parts of the State represent crops generally in a very satisfactory condition. The rains of the past week have done but little damage.

Our Shootists Abroad.

BELFAST, Ireland, July 6th.—The American rifle team was enthusiastically received here. The Mayor and Corporation met them at the train and escorted them to their carriages and the procession formed and marched to the hotel, where they dined with the Mayor and members of the city government. In the evening they attended the fete in their honor at the Botanic Gardens.

San Francisco News.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7th.—In the Board of Supervisors last night the water supply question came up again on a resolution looking to the purchase of the water rights of the Clear Lake Co., Merced, Pasadenas Creek and Blue Lakes Co. The resolution was rejected.

The Democratic Convention of the first Congressional District Court Room, Henry F. Williams in the Chair. Dr. Shorb, M. L. McDonald, Robert Ferral and W. A. Piper was nominated by a large majority. The nomination was made unanimous. The Convention then adjourned to the Grand Hotel, where the usual carnival programme ensued.

Fire at Visalia.

VISALIA, July 6th.—At four o'clock this afternoon a fire broke out in Lovejoy's Hotel Lulure City, which destroyed the entire business portion of the town within two hours, loss about $125,000. Principal losses, Schoenfeld, Goldman & Co., $40,000; Sisson, Wallace & Co., $30,000; Stock Hotel owned by the Central Pacific R. Co., $40,000. Stock and building of Sisson & Wallace, Schoenfeld, Goldman & Co. and Taylor's saloon were insured. No other insurance. Owing to the rapid spread of the flames, very little stock was saved from any of the stores.

Shuffled Off.

OAKLAND, Cal., July 6th.—This evening at half past 5 o'clock, a young man named John Walker, 22 years of age, shot himself through the heart at a lodging house on Seventh street, killing himself instantly. He was recently from the East, and has been employed at Blithen & Terry's Plainfield Mills. He left at 10 o'clock, saying that he had no friends, and was tired of life. His body was taken in charge by the Coroner.

"One thing," says an old toper, "was never seen coming through the rye, and that's the kind of whiskey one gets nowadays."

The Hawley Case.

Yesterday morning at 1 o'clock when we went to press, the doctors assured us that there was hardly a ghost of a show for Mr. Hawley, the victim of the knife of young Mayer, but we had more faith in Hawley's vitality than in the flat of a college of physicians, so we gave the wounded man the benefit of the doubt, and there is now every prospect of his recovery. Dr. Shorb at ten o'clock was of the belief that the wound was not fatal, but was overruled and left the case in the hands of Mr. Hawley's physician, Dr. Ross, and his consulting physicians. We waited up in momentary expectation of hearing of the victims death, but at 1 o'clock he seemed to be improving, and we went to bed. The last good-byes had been said and Hawley, to many a friend, was the hoodlum's victim. Yesterday morning at an early hour we learned that the wounded man was recovering, much to the joy of a host of friends, and the discomfiture of medical science. By late reports last night he was mending rapidly, and is in a fair way to be officiating in newspaperdom at an early date.

HIS ASSAILANT.

John Mayer, his assailant, hid himself in a lumber yard on Tuesday night, and in the morning went home, when his father promptly delivered him to the Sheriff, who committed him to jail. Last evening we interviewed him in his cell, and though annoyed by the presence of a murderer, a horse-thief, a house-breaker and several other criminals in the same cell, got his statement.

HIS APPEARANCE.

He is apparently about nineteen years old, and prematurely aged in crime. He is probably five feet eight and a half inches high, slim, rather weak build, of a snaky figure, sallow complexion, dark hair and eyes. He has an unhealthy look, physically, mentally and morally. Though of a good family, with model parents and respectable friends, he is evidently the outgrowth of the streets and dens of iniquity. He is a rank prodigy, his ideas of bravery and honor being obtained from Dick Turpin literature; his pattern of manhood copied from the highwayman; his morals obtained of the brothel.

HIS STATEMENT.

On Tuesday night I was drunk on Main street, near the Grange store, and got into a row with a man who was called Lynch, and who knocked me down, giving me this black eye and scathed face. As I got up another man, wearing a plug hat, approached and struck at me with his cane. I did not recognize him, it being impossible to do so, owing to the darkness. I did not know Hawley, and had been already sufficiently abused by the man Lynch, and when my new assailant raised his cane, I determined to defend myself, struck at him and ran, not knowing the result of my blow. I do not recollect of him calling out that he was stabbed and did not notice him pursuing me.

SUGGESTIONS.

This was the result of the interview, obtained in detachments and subject to frequent interruptions by a notorious criminal named Crooks, who is up for stealing a carpenter's tools, and who has evidently taken young Mayer under his tutelage. It is a matter of regret that our criminal accommodations are so inadequate that a prisoner of the age of Mayer is put into the same cell with old and hardened criminals to receive the instruction of the deeper infamy. The jail is well kept, is clean and neat, but the huddling together of prisoners of all ages and degrees of crime is against the spirit of the age, and the County Supervisors should consider gravely the consequences in the future criminal annals of this county. As at present constituted, the jail is a school from which criminals graduate better fitted for preying on the community after their slight restraint. The jail should permit the community to see the criminals inside or outside, and unless this sequestration is accomplished jails fall of their purpose.
